- a. Declare his or her interest in the matter;
- b. Not take part in the discussion or vote on any question related to the matter;
- c. Immediately leave the meeting or that part of the meeting during which the matter is under consideration; and
- d. Not attempt in any way, whether before, during or after the meeting, to influence the voting on the question.

35. If a board member refrains from voting when a question is put, for any reason other than that referred to in Section 23, he or she must be deemed to have voted in the affirmative and their vote will be counted accordingly.

36. All acts authorized or required by the Local Government Act to be done by the board, and all other questions, including questions or adjournment, that may come before the board must, except where otherwise stated, be done and decided by the majority of the board members who are present at a meeting.

37. In all cases where votes of the trustees present, including the vote of the chair, are equal for and against a question, the question is negative, and it is the duty of the chair to so declare. The names of those who vote for and against the question must be entered upon the minutes whenever requested by a board member.

38. When the question under consideration contains distinct propositions, upon request of any trustee, the vote upon each proposition can be taken separately.

39. The following procedures apply to voting at board meetings:

- a. When debate on a matter is closed the chair must put the matter to a vote of the board members;
- b. When the board is ready to vote, the chair must put the matter to a vote by stating: "Those in favor raise your hands." And then "Those opposed raise your hands."
- c. When the chair is putting the matter to a vote under paragraphs (a) and (b) a trustee must not: cross or leave the room; make a noise or other disturbance; or interrupt the voting procedure under paragraph (b) unless they are raising a point of order;
- d. After the chair finally puts the question to a vote under paragraph (b), a trustee must not speak to the question or make a motion concerning it;
- e. The chair's decision about whether a question has been finally put is conclusive;
- f. Whenever a vote on a matter is taken, each board member must signify their vote by raising their hand; and
- g. The chair must declare the result of the voting by stating that the question is decided in either the affirmative or the negative.

Delegations

40. The board may allow an individual or a delegation to address the board at the meeting on the subject of an agenda item provided written application has been received by the corporate officer by 4:30pm on the Thursday prior to the meeting. Each address must be limited to 5 minutes unless a longer period is agreed to by the unanimous vote of the board members present.
41. Where written application has not been received by the corporate officer as prescribed in Section 29, an individual or delegation may address the meeting if approved by unanimous vote of the board members present.
42. The corporate officer may schedule delegations to another board meeting as deemed appropriate according to the subject matter of the delegation.
43. The corporate officer may refuse to place a delegation on the agenda if the issue is not considered to fall within the jurisdiction of the board. If the delegation wishes to appeal the corporate officer's decision, the information must be distributed under separate cover to the board of its consideration.

Rules of Conduct and Debate

44. Every trustee must address the chair before speaking to any question or motion. Trustees must address the chair as “Mr. or Madam Chair” and refer to each other as “Trustee.” No trustee may speak more than once to the same question without leave of the trustees, except in explanation of a material part of their speech which may have been misconceived, and in doing so they may not introduce any new matter.
45. No board member may interrupt a member who is speaking except to raise a point of order.
46. Board members must use respectful language; must not use offensive gestures or signs; must speak only in connection with the matter being debated; may speak about a vote of the board only for the purpose of making a motion that the vote is being rescinded; and must adhere to the rules of procedure established under this bylaw and to the decisions of the chair and board in connection with the rules and points of order.
47. After a question is finally put by the chair, no trustee may speak to the question, nor may any other motion be made until after the result of the vote has been declared. The decision of the chair as to whether the question has been finally put is conclusive.
48. A board member may speak to a question, or may speak in reply, for longer than a total time of ten (10) minutes only with the permission of the board.

Motions

49. Motions other than routine motions (including motions to adopt a report, to received and file, to refer to a committee or an official, to introduce or pass a bylaw, or adjourn) must be seconded before debated or put from the chair.
50. A motion that has been seconded must be read by the corporate officer or chair before debate if requested.
51. When a question is under consideration, no motion will be received except for the following to:
 - a. Refer to committee
 - b. Amend
 - c. Lay on the table
 - d. Postpone indefinitely
 - e. Postpone to a certain time
 - f. Move the previous question
 - g. Adjourn

52. The seven motions listed in Section 40, above, have precedence in the order in which they are named, and the last five are neither amendable nor debatable.
53. A board member may, without notice, move to amend a motion that is being considered at a meeting.
54. An amendment may propose removing, substituting for, or adding to the words of an original motion.
55. Amendments to a motion must be decided before the main question is put to a vote. Only one amendment is allowed to an amendment.
56. An amendment that has been defeated by a vote of the board cannot be proposed again.
57. A motion to commit the subject matter to a committee, until it is decided, precludes all amendments of the main question.
58. A motion to adjourn the meeting or the debate is always in order, but if such motion is negative, no second motion to the same effect may be made until some intermediate business or matter has been disposed of.

Points of Order

59. The chair will preserve order and decide all points of order which may arise, but subject to an appeal of the other trustees present.
60. If a trustee appeals the decision of the chair, the question must be immediately put by the trustee, and decided without debate. "Shall the chair be sustained?" and the chair is governed by the vote of the majority then present (exclusive of himself or herself), and the names of the trustees voting for or against the question "Shall the chair be sustained?" will be recorded in the minutes.
61. If the chair refuses to put the question "Shall the chair be sustained?" the trustees must immediately appoint one of its number to preside temporarily in lieu of the chair and the member so temporarily appointed will proceed in accordance with the prior section.
62. Any resolution or motion carried under the circumstances mentioned above is as effectual and binding as if carried under the precedence of the chair.

Bylaws

63. Every bylaw must be read a first time upon motion "that the (bylaw citation) now be introduced and read a first time." The title and intended object of the bylaw will be given and the question will be decided without amendment or debate.

64. The provisions of a bylaw may be debated upon second reading with such changes as appear necessary. The bylaw may be then passed upon motion "that the (bylaw citation) be adopted." The board may give readings and adopt a bylaw at the same meeting.
65. Bylaws must be sealed with the seal of the improvement district and signed by the corporate officer and by the chair at the meeting at which the bylaw is passed.
66. The corporate officer must maintain all bylaws and keep them safe. Bylaws must be available to the public.

Standing and Select Committees

67. The board may establish standing and select committees. The chair of a committee will be determined by a majority of the committee members. The board must establish the purpose of a committee by resolution at the time of the creation of a committee.
68. The quorum for a committee is a majority of all its members.
69. A motion made at a meeting of a committee is not required to be seconded.
70. Standing committee must consider, inquire into, report, and make recommendations to the board about matters that are related to the general subject indicated by the name of the committee and matters that are assigned by the board.
71. Standing committees must report and make recommendations to the board when required by the board, or at the next board meeting, if a time is not specified.
72. Select committees must consider, inquire into, report and make recommendations to the board about the matter(s) referred to the committee by the board.
73. Select committees must report and make recommendations to the board at the next board meeting unless the board specifies a different date and time. Upon completion of its assignment, a select committee is dissolved, unless otherwise by the board.
74. Notice of select and standing committee meetings must be given by the chair of the committee to the committee members by giving notice in writing or by other means seven (7) days in advance of the meeting.
75. Accurate minutes of all committee meetings must be legibly recorded. The minutes must be adopted with such corrections as necessary by a majority of committee members at the following meeting before being certified as correct by the corporate officer and signed by the chair of the committee meeting or the chair presiding at the following meeting.

76. The minutes of all meetings must be open to public inspection except for those meetings or parts of meetings that are closed to the public.

77. The corporate officer must maintain the minutes of meetings and keep them safe.

78. In conducting its business, all standing and select committees must adhere as far as possible to the rules established in this bylaw governing board meetings.

Unprovided Cases

79. In all situations not provided for in this bylaw regarding the proceedings of a meeting, the most current version of Robert's Rules of Order applies to the proceedings to the extent that those Rules are applicable in the circumstances and are not inconsistent with the provisions of this bylaw or the Local Government Act.
